

1

As a liberal arts program, we are open to students of all skill levels and interests. Many of our design and production students cross between performance or outside majors with ease, and are encouraged to explore any interests or discipline.

2

We house true Maker Spaces with access to a wood shop, design lab, lighting lab, audio and video equipment, paint shop, and sewing shop as well as industry professionals in each area to help mentor and provide advice on best practices and tool use.

5

Our management and design students have gone on to work professionally in regional and Broadway theatres, film and television, and have received MFAs from top-tiered drama schools.

Five facts about our program in

Design/Tech

3

Students are encouraged to put their classroom-learned skills to use in practical settings. All of our productions are stage managed by undergraduate students and 75%+ of our productions are designed by undergraduates.

4

Students are mentored through their design, management, and crew-head duties by professional staff and faculty in a safe environment where there is an emphasis on their process and development more than their end product.
