

Caleb Shalaby:

“Thank you to the University of Pittsburgh Theatre Arts Department for everything. I’m happy to report that I have a lot of fond memories. I think my favorite would have to be designing, building, and manipulating the shadow puppets for Suddenly Last Summer. It was truly a unique and rewarding experience for me. If I could pass on one piece of wisdom to someone coming into the department as a minor, it would be not to get intimidated. You may not be a major, but you still have so much to offer the department!”

I’m not sure where I’ll be going from here. I hope to end up doing marketing and advertising within the entertainment industry, but who knows? All I know is I’ll take the lessons from the theater department, such as memorization and presentation practices, to thrive wherever I land. And overall, I will remember my time at the University of Pittsburgh fondly, because I took every opportunity I could, and I’m so proud of what I’ve accomplished.”
